School of Arts and Sciences Holds Annual Student Forum

On Friday, November 22, 2013 the Third Annual Palau Community College (PCC) School of Arts and Science Student Forum was held at the PCC Assembly Hall. The forum consists of student presentations that apply classroom-learned concepts to ideas or issues (e.g., social significance of the "Micronesian Skirt" worn by women in Micronesia) in Palau, Micronesia, or the Pacific region. Each presentation provides an example of the quality of education attainable at PCC.

The forum featured six students: four Liberal Arts Majors, one Nursing Major, and one S. T. E. M (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) Major. Morton Siwaichi, a student of PCC, was the master of ceremony. PCC Professor Dr. Isebong Asang assisted the students during the preparation step of the forum. STUDENT FORUM, CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Pacific Islands University Visits Palau Community College

On Friday, November 15, 2013 Palau Community College (PCC) was visited by representatives of the Pacific Islands University (PIU). PIU Advancement Director Samantha Owen and Interim Provost & Academic Vice President Dr. Sam Mabini met with PCC President Dr. Patrick U. Tellei during their courtesy visit.

PIU provides accessible and transformational Christian higher education and ministry training to the people of Micronesia, the Pacific islands, and to nations worldwide. The university aims to prepare men and women with a biblical worldview for leadership and service in life, work, and ministry in the global community. PIU provides distance education classes and has teaching facilities in Yap and Palau.

IT-215 Class Trip to PMA/SDA Campuses

IT-215 Students with JICA Volunteer Instructor Yukio Umetani.

On Monday, October 28, 2013 the IT-215: Web Design & Management Class of Palau Community College (PCC) visited the school campuses of the Koror Seventh-Day Adventist (SDA) Elementary School and Palau Mission Academy (PMA). The students are currently working on website designs for the schools as part of their semester final projects. Visiting the campuses provided for the IT-215 students an in-depth look at the education and learning environment of the schools. IT-215 focuses on the basic concepts of web design such as layout, information organization, and hypertext mark-up language (HTML). A total of six (6) students are currently attending the class.

NU-102 Practicum

Nursing students learning about bandaging & wound care.

On Thursday, November 14, 2013 the Palau Community College (PCC) NU-102: Basic Nursing Concepts Class held a wound care and bandaging practicum. The practicum was led by Allyne Kikuharu, a licensed practical nurse currently attending PCC in order to obtain her Associate Degree. Through her practical experiences, she was able to share the basic concepts of wound care and bandaging with her fellow classmates.

FSA Donates to Typhoon Relief Efforts

On Tuesday, November 26, 2013 the Faculty Senate Association (FSA) of Palau Community College (PCC) donated to the relief efforts of the Philippines and Kayangel State. To each cause, FSA presented a $1,000 check to assist in the victims of Typhoon Haiyan.

TECHNOLOGY: FRIEND OR FOE BY DIZZETTE U. DOLMERS

Ms. Dolmers focused on the positive and negative effects of technology on education. She identified the pros such as research convenience and globalization effect versus the cons such as social (face-to-face) and physical inactivity. Ms. Dolmers advised the audience to take everything in moderation. The audience was left to answer for themselves whether technology is a friend or a foe when it comes to life in general.

SEARCHING FOR THE MEANING OF KUSHU BY GENER M. SANGALANG

Mr. Sangalang focused on defining the term kushu (a Japanese word meaning 'air raid') in connection to Palau's history. The Japanese word is common in a phrase used by older Palauans to lament their younger years. Through interviews, Mr. Sangalang was able to define kushu as a time of difficulty during World War II. He ended his presentation by considering the effect that the war had on the islands.

SWEET CHILD OF MINE BY KAYA SOLOMON

Ms. Solomon focused on the Palauan social stigma attached to teenage pregnancy. She interviewed various people, including teen mothers, to weigh the pros and cons. In addition, Ms. Solomon identified how popular opinions about teenage pregnancy vary due to time and social changes. In Palau's past, women were expected to birth many children. Today, due to western influences, being a young mother has become taboo.

BELAUAN INK BY MARIAH KUAL

The presentation of Ms. Kual gave a traditional overview of tattoos in the Palauan culture. She defined the meaning of certain tattoos and the social significance of tattoos on certain parts of the body. In addition, Ms. Kual showed the evolution of tattoos in Palau as the western concept of individualism comes into play in today's society.

SOCIOLOGICAL IMAGINATION OF THE BETELNUT BY MARCIA OLKERIIL

Ms. Olkeriil focused on the socialization qualities of chewing betelnut. She began by stating the basic ingredients. Afterwards, she provided evidence of the economical benefits of chewing betelnut (e.g., a source of income for Palauans), its social qualities (e.g., an excuse to speak to someone), and its psychological effect as an energy booster. She contrasted these benefits with the disadvantages of not chewing betelnut.

HAI, WHY DO PALAUANS COMPLAIN SO MUCH? BY MARIAH LUND

Ms. Lund tackled the Palauan social practice of complaining. She identified the reasons behind the practice: personal habit, social belief, conversation starter, etc. On the other side of the complaining coin, Ms. Lund identified the importance of complaining particularly in learning cultural practices. In the end, she supported Palauans complaining because the act helps revolutionize and improve conditions in society.
