LRC/AANAPISI Students Visit UH Manoa

LRC/AANAPISI students with Sen. Sengebau and Sen. Nakamura at UH Manoa campus

On June 24, 2017, the PCC Learning Resource Center/Asian American Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution Program hosted a student experiential learning trip to University of Hawaii at Manoa with 14 PCC students.

While in UH Manoa, students were introduced to dorm-life and building accommodation when they checked-in at the University of Manoa, East West Center dormitory. Shared shower rooms and kitchen were good experience for students who are used to live in a house with parents in Palau. They also toured the campus and the city of Honolulu prior to scheduled campus visits. The campus visits consisted of Admissions & Records in which students were informed about the requirements of transferring and getting accepted into the university; and Student Support Services (SSS), where representatives of the program gave a overview of the benefits and assistance available for students to pass their classes and graduate. In addition to the offices visited. Students also visited the Shidler College of Business and were given a talk about what to expect during their time at the university and business program requirements and expectations. Next was the College of Social Sciences where they were given a brief description of the program and services. Stressed the importance of service learning by actually going out into the community and help improve social issues. The College of Arts and Humanities was our next stop of the visit where we met the Dean of Arts and Humanities along with two other professors. Our students were briefed about programs offered. Class sit-ins were arranged to give us a taste of what UH Manoa classes really like and finally, the John A. Burns School of Medicine, where the students were greeted by a familiar face, Dr. George Hui, who oversees the Short-Term Research Experience for Underrepresented Persons (STEP-UP) program. He spoke to the students about careers in biomedical and behavioral research as well as advice on how to achieve their goals.

The overall experience was enhanced when Senator Uduch S. Senior and Senator Aric Nakamura heard that the students were on the island touring the university and invited them to dinner. Senator Senior and Senator Nakamura shared their experiences at UH Manoa and answered questions the students had about attending the university. Overall, the trip was very educational as well as eye-opening. The students got to experience not only university life but living away from home and finding their way around. The staff and students of LRC/AANAPISI program thank Dean Sherman Daniel and President Dr. Patrick U. Tellei for their continuous support to student experiential learning program.

(PCC) continues to provide basic care-giving training program for interested individual. The participants of the Care-Giving Program are taught by volunteer instructors who are certified nurses, physical therapists, and psychiatrists. The training session spans about two weeks in which a module is taught each week night. Each module covers a different aspect of caregiving such as proper way to prepare meals for a patient, personal hygiene, and different illnesses that may plague a patient. In addition, trained caregivers learn how to deal with the emotional and physical stresses of the occupation which is considered as one of the reason caregivers opt out.

PCC and Ministry of Health congratulate caregivers for completing the training and thank them for participating in this very worthy and humbled training to assist our elders and bedridden family members.
