PCC CRE Conducts Coconut Beetle Assessment in Kayangel State

PCC CRE Dr. Chris Kitalong with student researchers in Kayangel State assessing coconut rhinoceros beetles and setting up traps.

PCC-CRE in cooperation with Kayangel Youth Association, Island Conservation and the Regional Invasive Species Council (RISC) went up to Kayangel on July 9th 2020 to perform Coconut Rhinoceros Beetles assessments and trapping, as well as agroforestry follow up assessments for food security. The team of 9 high school student researchers, 7 PCC student researchers, 6 PCC-CRE team members and collaborating scientists from Island Conservation and RISC departed in the morning and returned in the early afternoon. During the short visit, all islands were assessed for damage and 8 Coconut Rhinoceros Beetles traps were set; one on each of the out-lying islands and 5 traps were set at assessment sites on the main island. In addition, the PCC-CRE agriculture team followed up on agroforestry products planted in the past years, assessed agroforestry products around homes and collected samples to establish live germ plasms of important banana and coconut species important to the Kayangel populations.

PCC CE Basic Conversational Mandarin Class Begins

On July 14, 2020 Palau Community College Continuing Education in partnership with Republic of China - Taiwan conducted a three-day Basic Conversational Mandarin class free of charge to over 10 students soon to enroll at various universities and colleges in the Republic of China - Taiwan this coming Fall Semester 2020. PCC language instructor Ms. Shu Yun Tsai from ROC Taiwan International Cooperation and Development Fund (Taiwan ICDF) conducted the training held at Palau Tourism and Hospitality School of Excellence (PTHSE).

The three-day training focused on daily mandarin conversation at personal level. Trainees also learned acceptable pronunciation, useful vocabularies, self introduction, and appropriate greeting usage in daily contacts.

For more information on the upcoming Mandarin training, contact Dean of Continuing Education Jefferson Thomas at 488-2470 ext. 243.

IT'S TIME TO TAKE THE NEXT STEP.
