PCC EMS STUDENTS HOLD SCIENCE PROGRAM INFORMATION SESSION

Inset: EMS students Adrian Ililau and Derrick D. Alexander presenting during informational session at Assembly Hall

On April 09, 2021 Palau Community College Environmental and Marine Science (EMS) Student Club gave an informatory session about the EMS program and students club activities to the Upward Bound (UB) students at PCC Assembly Hall. The presentation is part of EMS promotional activity to encourage high school students to major in the program as it provides important stewardship and care of Palau's natural resources. Some club activities discussed were trash-a-thons which are regularly planned for targeted areas in Koror and Babeldaob area, fundraising activities to help support the cost of EMS science field trips and social activities, tree-planting activities in collaboration with local agencies during Palau's celebration of Earth Day, and participation of coastal clean-up. There were Q&A at the end of the session and prizes given out to UB students responding with right answers. UB program staff and students thank EMS student club for providing a very resourceful and informative session.

PCC Cafeteria "Choose Pelagics" Mural Completed

On Thursday, April 8, 2021 PCC mural work of art was finally completed. The art wall titled Choose Pelagics depicts various pelagic species which promotes the Palau national conservation effort in preservation of marine reef fish and in promotion of sports fishing as a sustainable and practical conservation effort. The mural portrays various pelagic species such as swordfish, blue marlin, yellowfin tuna, and bluefin tuna. According to the study conducted by PICRC, PNMS, and University of Hawaii increased consumption of pelagic fish help the conservation of near shore fishes. The promotion of edible marine species has become a national priority of Palau and local agencies. To show support and approval, PCC President Dr. Patrick U. Tellei and Destin Penland watched artist Tatiana Tikhanina and apprentice Stewart Mutsuo as they put the final touch of the mural.
