2001 Thanksgiving Fund Raiser Gets Underway

Palau Community College has started its activities for the 2001 Thanksgiving Fund Raiser for the PCC Endowment Fund. This will be the third year that the College holds such an event. The past two years' activities were held at the Palau Pacific Resort; however, this year's event will be held on the College campus on Wednesday November 21, from 1:00 - 6:00 pm. Initial plans for the event has a major portion of the afternoon devoted to highlighting PCC programs, services, and activities with radio personalities. The College hopes to have the entire event broadcasted live on radio so that the listening public will have an opportunity to learn more about the College. Throughout the course of the afternoon, drawing of the fund raising tickets will be held for the many wonderful prize giveaways.

The goal for this year's Thanksgiving fund raiser is $25,000. For a donation of $10, one gets a raffle ticket. While there is no limit to the number of tickets per person, there are only 2,500 tickets being planned to be sold; therefore, people interested should donate and get their tickets before they get all sold out. If you are interested in getting a ticket, members of the PCC Board of Trustees as well as the PCC President have tickets for sale. At the same time PCC staff LeoBen Teriong (VP, Administration), Presley Etibek (Dean of Students), Alvina Timarong (Dean of Academic Affairs), Willy Wally (Dean of Continuing Ed.), Merelyn Omelau (Accounting Technician), Grace Alexander (Systems Analyst), Armstrong Debelbot (Public Relations Manager), and Dilubch Samil (Admin. Asst.) also have tickets available. All of these people may be contacted at PCC telephone number 488-2470/2471.

At this stage, the College is still formalizing the event's schedule and is very open to suggestions from the College as well as the local community. What has been confirmed, however, is the variety and number of great raffle prizes to be given away to lucky winners. Below are just some of the prizes:

- $1,500 grand prize

Agricultural Science Students Visit Local Poultry and Piggery Farms

By: Melinda Ramarui, Jamaira Olkeriil, and Johana Edeluchel
PCC Agricultural Science Students

On Thursday, September 20, 2001, we the group of students in the Introduction to Tropical Agriculture class, took a field trip to Lakobong Farm located at Ngesaol. Based on our study on animal husbandry, we got the chance to further our knowledge about the variety of pigs that were being raised on the farm, as well as the different kinds of pigs that are present in Palau. From there, we got to know how the food for the pigs were usually prepared and how the workers maintained and kept the pigs themselves clean and healthy. They usually maintained the environment in a way so that the piggery is clean and safe. In addition, we gained much knowledge on the many purposes for raising pigs. One of which is for our customs.

On the very same day we also took a trip to PMA chicken farm located at Ngerikiil. Trying to Avoid the strong odor of chicken manure, we walked through the entire area trying to see what breeds of chicken were available. We got to see a large population of chickens running around in their cages. We also got to see how the workers cleaned the cages. Cleanliness is a top priority that the workers emphasize, making sure that the chickens are clean and healthy. We talked with one of the workers on the problems they usually face when dealing with the big population of chickens that they have. It's rather interesting that they are able to sell and make money out of the chickens' eggs. The poultry farm holds about 10,000 chickens which produce around 5,000 to 7,000 eggs per day. The eggs are collected, cleaned and prepared for sale to the local stores, restaurants, and hotels. Nothing is wasted as the chicken manure is recycled and also sold to local farmers as fertilizers.

We would like to thank the Lakobong Piggery and the PMA Poultry Farm for the educational tour and their helpful hospitality.

Field Trip to Ngatpang Waterfall By: Cynthia Tilimwar, Chuuk State Leader

On Saturday, October 06th, the Chuuk Student Organization (CSO) of Palau Community College went on a field trip to Ngatpang Waterfall. While there, students took time to relax and enjoy the day by swimming, hiking, and storytelling. During lunch, students had a delicious meal prepared by Cafeteria Staff. "The day was enjoyable and exciting," noted Satok Kapwich. He continued to say, that he will always treasure the good memories of all the beautiful place that he has visited in Palau, as he pursues his educational goals at PCC. Finally, CSO would like to thank Dean Etibek, Director Edward, Dean Wally, and Supervisor Takeo for their support and assistance during the trip. Special thanks to Rosita Weilbacher, for donating a case of soda and 5 pounds of grape fruits. Interested in joining the PCC Chuuk Student Organization, contact Cynthia Tilimwar at 488-3036.

On their way back from the falls, the CSO break for a picture.
