Cleanup Instills Responsibility in AHS students

Contributed by Armstrong Debelbot

Adult High School (AHS) students organized into a Kinrohoshi/Cleanup squad took to the surrounding area of their classroom facilities with sickles, machetes, rakes, shovels, and the like to beautify the area. Considered as an important part of the learning process, Director Mangham, who oversees the program, explains that the cleanup is a scheduled regular activity for the students. "It helps encourage ownership and responsibility, at the same time, ensures a clean and pleasant learning setting for the students," said Mangham. The cleanup covered the vicinity of Rriu and Urur classrooms, Temekai, Baderirt, and the SDSU buildings. It was entirely planned by the students under the direction of AHS student officers.

Participating students in the cleanup effort agreed that such an activity is helpful because it allows them to learn to become more independent in planning and accomplishing assigned work. Recent AHS graduate Mally Shiro, a current full-time PCC student, assigned to the AHS office on the Work Study Program, said that such student-organized activities outside classroom setting are definitely enriching experiences. Without question, she has become more independent, a trait she is finding extremely useful now in her more
